

RAPPEL GLOVE

Outstanding hand protection meets dexterity in our Rappel Gloves. CMC's highest level of dexterity means you can wear these gloves to tie knots and work with hardware, set up a system or rappel. Pittard's Armor-Tan leather and unique para-aramid fiber stitching combine for exceptional durability.

A double layer at the thumb web protects hands when rappelling, and the wear-resistant double palm guards against heat, moisture, cold, and abrasion. Its second anatomically segmented layer eases grip fatigue. The back is equally detailed: spandex ventilates and delivers flexibility and comfort, while elastic at the wrist provides a secure fit. When not in use, these gloves can hang on harness gear loops using the carabiner loops sewn into the wrist.

Available in tan and black. The tan color may vary in shade and may appear darker than shown in photos. Please also note that CMC gloves tend to run small compared to other brands. Refer to the sizing chart in the photos above. If you are between sizes, consider sizing up.
